

Notes of a Meeting
With P. J. Raleigh, T. Desanti, D. Zeraldo
Concerning Arsenic Markets

Raleigh and I met with Desanti and Zelraldo to bring to their attention the Salsigne gold deposit in France, which is presently producing about 6,000 tons of arsenic per year and has the capability of going to 20,000 tons per year if they increase mining rate.

Desanti indicated that this was even more reason why we should be getting the Giant upgrading plant quickly to take advantage of the present market conditions which are favourable. He also felt that it would be very difficult for Salsigne to get into the North American market if Giant got the jump on them. He also questioned whether they could be competitive with the shipping costs involved to the North American market.

Zeraldo was aware of the Salsigne deposit and knows that they are currently selling some of their production to Koppers presumably in Europe.
